Rancho Sisquoc

is an old Spanish Land Grant owned by James Flood. The mild climate and gravelly soil are ideally suited for the growing of fine wine grapes. The ranch is located on the Sisquoc River eighteen miles east of Santa Maria in Santa Barbara County. The San Ramon Chapel on the label is at the entrance to the ranch and was built in 1875 for the use of the pioneer families of the area. It is still in use by the descendants of those pioneers.
